More Orchids of MEXICO by Omar Rocha

Most of us are familiar with the beautiful laelia's of Mexico, but tonight we will see and learn about some of the more unusual orchids from Mexico. Many of these species will grow out of doors in the Bay Area

Our guest speaker for the month of March is Omar Rocha from Mexico City. Omar is a biologist, and for the past 12 year he has been working with the Mexican Government in the Wildlife Management & Development department. He is involved in assessing and evaluating wildlife populations (both animal and plant) in Mexico. His field work requires many visits to habitats of native Mexican orchids.

Omar is an avid orchid hobbyist and has served as President of the Mexican Orchid Society (A.M.O) from 2004 – 2006.

Speaker's Dinner will be at Mangia Bene (Italian), 1170 Arnold Dr #116 (in the strip mall.) Everyone is welcome to attend and meet our speaker. If you plan to attend, please notify Liz Charlton at (925) 280-1671 or email dvosnews@gmail.com

Plant table will be provided by Orchid Gulch.

How to get new roots on a paphiopedilum

by Eileen Jackson

Take the plant out of the potting medium it is in, take off the old dead roots and the bottom pair of leaves if they are in poor condition. Place the plant in washed, large size perlite, covering the base of the plant, as this is where the new roots will come from. The perlite then needs to be watered with Dyna Gro KLN rooting concentrate at a ratio of one teaspoon per gallon of water. Set this pot into a slightly larger plastic pot with about 1 inch of rocks in the base, then set this in a tray of water which covers the rocks. Change this water weekly and water the plants with the Dyna Gro solution 2 times a week. After a couple of months take the plant out of the perlite and check for new roots. When they are a couple of inches long they can be put back in your regular potting medium.

Sue Fordyce's Tips on Cattleya Care

Sue Fordyce informed us on the care of Cattleyas. Observation is key to any healthy plant, and she pointed out the signs of "impending doom" from overwatering, lack of sunlight and overpotting. It is important to get your newly potted Catt "anchored", especially if it does not have many roots, by securing it in the pot with a stake across the rhizome. Catts love to dry out inbetween watering, so use a very porous potting medium, She uses 4 parts med. to lg. bark, 1 part charcoal and 1 part #3 grade perlite.

Masdevallias (or most don't like it hot!) by Brian Wraxall

Most of these plants are intermediate or cool growing so I grow many of mine outside in the shade with no direct sun. I use Sluggo to keep the snail population down. Masdevallias are shallow rooted & like high humidity (70%). Clay pots with sphagnum moss or sphagnum/small bark mixes work well. Some like a little charcoal. Experiment to find what works for you. If you grow these plants in a greenhouse, the winter is OK. If they start to flower in the greenhouse during the summer or it gets really hot, move them out or they will get stressed and you will lose the flowers or even the plant.

Phalaenopsis presented by Linda Castleton

It's all about humidity. Phals don't like to dry out. They prefer the same conditions as people, so they are easy to grow indoors. Weak roots can be saved by soaking them in a rooting compound such as KLN, and placing

March 2009

This year the Carmel Orchid Society has joined with the Carmel Valley Garden Club Flower and Art Show and the Hidden Valley Music Seminars for our annual MayFaire.

The show will be held at the Hidden Valley Music Seminars located at 88 W. Carmel Valley Road and Ford Road in Carmel Valley Village. We would like to invite your members to travel to the Monterey Peninsula for the May 17th Show. The show, will have many exciting highlights this year. There will be plant and floral displays with judging, lecture series, potting demonstrations, a Silent Auction and Raffle, a Children's Garden, Pottery, plant and Orchid Sales as well as a Flower Café so that you may have lunch while you wander the grounds.

Each year we select some of the finest growers to sell their wide selection of orchids. We know your members and guests will enjoy our orchid display as well as the rose display. We will also have potting demonstrations with information and suggestions for those who need help for their plants.

We hope that you will be able to display our flyer at your next meetings and include our information in your newsletters and on your website. We appreciate having your members participate in our show. Thank you!
